Market Update:

- After a summer of solid footing in US credit, September delivered strong momentum across high yield bonds, leveraged loans and CLOs, fueled by record issuance, resilient returns and shifting sector leadership. High yield bonds posted their sixth consecutive monthly gain, returning +0.76%⁽⁸⁾ as yields and spreads briefly touched multi-year and seven-month lows, respectively. Loans returned +0.44%⁽⁹⁾ in September, modestly trailing the duration-led rally across fixed income as investors weighed the likelihood of further Fed easing amid soft labor data but resilient growth.

Transaction Overview

- Imbox was owned by Founder and CEO Rene Charles Marker and the Danish Grundtvig family, who were selling the business to new majority owner, Altor ("the Sponsor"). The sale was intended to accelerate growth, strengthen commercial excellence, and support internal expansion.
- The Sponsor approached KKR Credit to finance its acquisition of Imbox through a Unitranche Term Loan of €127 million. KKR Credit agreed to finance 100% of the facility.
- Our investment thesis was based on Imbox's: (i) vast market potential, in our view, with less than 1% retail penetration globally; (ii) highly attractive unit economics; (iii) attractive recurring revenue base with approximately 40% of revenue derived from rental fees; and (iv) strong patent protection.
