The asset class benefited from steady inflows, negligible net new supply, and easing market concerns.

Portfolio Case Study

Company Overview

- Trackunit ApS ("Trackunit") is the leading global vendor of Off Highway Vehicles ("OHV") telematics, providing hardware and software solutions to tag, track and manage construction equipment for use cases including location & utilisation tracking, performance diagnostics, access control and theft protection.
- Trackunit operates across North America and Europe with an installed base of ~1.6 million devices. Customers include equipment rental companies, OEMs and contractors. Trackunit's brand agnostic software solution, which accounts for ~76% of the company's gross profit, allows customers to reduce total cost of ownership for construction equipment through significant savings and efficiency gains, offering strong (5-10x+) ROI.

Company
Country	Denmark
Industry	Software
Sponsor	Goldman Sachs Asset Management, Hg Capital

Transaction Overview

- Goldman Sachs Asset Management acquired Trackunit from Hg Capital for an Enterprise Value of approximately $1.2 billion with a $200 million earn-out based on FY 2025 performance. Hg Capital rolled a significant minority stake as part of the acquisition. KKR Credit invested approximately $303 million across a $450 million First Lien Term Loan and $300 million Delayed Draw Term Loan.
- Our investment thesis is predicated on Trackunit's: (i) high growth addressable market with, in our view, strong penetration tailwinds due to attractive customer ROI for telematics investment; (ii) clear market-leading competitive position; (iii) highly predictable recurring revenue model from software subscriptions with long term contracts and low customer churn; (iv) strong historical financial performance with ~15% PF revenue and ~23% PF EBITDA CAGR in 2021-24 as well as high Cash EBITDA margin of 33%; and (v) significant future growth potential, in our view, outside core use cases from monetising the data platform.
- In our due diligence, we were able to leverage extensive internal knowledge on the Company and our strong relationship with the Sponsor to build conviction on Trackunit's offering and leading competitive position, ultimately supporting the acquisition as the co-lead investor alongside existing lenders.
